LEGISLATORS ENDED SESSION LAST NIGHT

Closing Hours of Gathering of Both Houses Given Over to Singing And Fun.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., June 11.—As far as a calendar business is concerned the regular session of the legislature of 1907 came to an end at 10:42 last night. The hands of the clock of both houses, however, registered at 5:16 and so will it appear in the official record of the proceedings. The closing hours of the session were marked with the usual pastimes of singing songs, hurling paper wads and jokes, and general disorder.

The senate departed somewhat from the regulation custom by having the number of speeches in which the members thanked Lieutenant Governor Strange for his courtesy during the session, and Mr. Strange replied in a feeling speech for the kindness of the senators and the work they had accomplished. Even Chief Clerk Andrews participated in the literary festival. Even in its closing hours, the session displayed the bitterness that has prevailed between the two houses, and at the eleventh hour of the Wisconsin legislature of 1909 there was the political foiling which has cursed the entire session.

Rejection of the resolution introduced by Senator J. W. Thomas of Shepards Falls and adopted by the senate, calling for a joint legislative committee investigation of the powers of the investigating committee. It was feared that the committee could not report bills as a portion of its recommendations as at first supposed. The assembly leaders, however, for once played wise politics and after a conference with the senate leaders adopted a resolution putting the matter over to the special session. After this agreement had been reached, the senate bills were recalled from the assembly and the resolution which passed both houses was introduced making the investigation of the corrupt practices question the main subject for action at the special session.

LA CROSSE NORMAL OPENS IN SEPTEMBER
New School Will Be Ready For Occupancy At Beginning Of First School Term.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., June 11.—La Crosse will have its normalities next September, the assembly last night having taken final action for the opening of the new school in that city. This means that in 1909 Wisconsin will have normal schools at La Crosse, Platteville, Milwaukee, Superior, Stevens Point, Oshkosh and River Falls.

Dr. Barnett's bill providing severe penalties for dealers in stocks who tell stories of fabulous wealth to prospective purchasers was killed. The bill was amended in committee and the penalty became unreasonable, the seller, in good faith, of a stock being subject to a state prison sentence if the stock decreased in value, the unreasonableness of the bill caused its death.

A fate similar to the Barnett bill was dealt out to the Scott bill which provided that referendum should be held on certain ordinances in cities. This means that the bill was put to sleep until the next session.

After a prolonged fight the bill increasing the salaries of members of the state board of control was amended so that hereafter they will receive $2,500 instead of $2,000. An attempt was made to make the figure $3,000, but it failed.

Mr. Brew's bill which is designed to clarify the situation regarding the laying of cement sidewalks in the city of Milwaukee and charging the cost to property-holders finally was given its passage. This action will do away with numerous future suits based on what has been termed the arbitrary attitude of the Milwaukee board of public works.

The assembly took final favorable action on the bill, 777A, which grants to the city of Milwaukee certain submerged lands so that the proposed lake drive may be completed.

The Sanborn bill which provides for the establishment and equipment of a branch experimental station in connection with the college of agriculture was passed by a vote of 52 to 1.

Following yesterday afternoon's session a recess until 7:30 o'clock was taken after which the remaining bills were disposed of so that technical adjournment might be taken Thursday evening, the assembly clock meanwhile having been fixed at 5:45.

THE ASSEMBLY RIDICULES THE MEASURES SENT FROM SENATE FOR PASSAGE AND SENATE RETURNS COMPLIMENT WITH DENUNCIATIONS.

Madison, Wis., June 11.—Amid denunciations of the senate for impudence and insult, the assembly last night in its closing hour voted to return to the senate without action a joint resolution introduced by Senator J. W. Thomas of Shepards Falls and adopted by the senate, calling for a joint legislative committee investigation of the powers of the investigating committee. It was feared that the committee could not report bills as a portion of its recommendations as at first supposed. Woman Stabbed by Unknown Man While They Were in the House to Protect Her.
[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Chicago, June 11.—Although guarded by two detectives, Dr. John A. Bondeley, a practicing physician of middle age, was stabbed in the breast and stomach last night at her home when she opened the back door in response to a knock. The would-be assassin escaped in the darkness. Several days ago the physician received a letter threatening her life if she did not place the hundred dollars in a designated spot. The letter was signed with an imitation "black hand" skull and crossbones. The misadventure was given to the police and detectives were placed in the house to protect her.

Later Report.
Dr. Bondeley was not in the least injured, the razor which the would-be assassin used striking some jewelry which she wore.

Exercises At West Point Held In Same Place As In Past Hundred Years And More.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
West Point, N. Y., June 11.—Beneath the Stars and Stripes, under the spreading branches of a grove of sturdy oaks in front of the cadet chapel, the class of 1909 of the United States Military Academy received their diplomas today from the hands of Secretary of War Dickinson. On the platform were gathered the Secretary of War, Major-Gen. Ball, chief of staff; Colonel Hugh L. Scott, superintendent of the academy, prominent army officers from New York, Washington and other points, several members of Congress and many other distinguished people in military and civil life.

The graduation exercises took place at 11 o'clock. The whole battalion, headed by the Military Academy Band, marched to the spot in front of the chapel which has marked the scene of the graduation of every class since the institution was established. The program of the exercises included music by the band, prayer by the chaplain, an address to the graduation class by the president of the board of visitors, an address by the superintendent of the academy and the delivery of the diplomas by the Secretary of War.

DISCUSS RETURN OF JEWS TO PALESTINE
Zionists in Session Tomorrow Will Consider Restoration of Land to Jewish People.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
New York, June 11.—Delegates already arriving in New York to attend the annual convention of the Federation of American Zionists, which will hold its sessions in this city during the next four or five days. Several things combine to give promise of the most important as well as the largest convention ever held by the organization.

Among the more important questions to be considered is the movement seeking the restoration of Palestine to the Jewish people. In view of the recent changes in the Turkish empire and of the friendly attitude towards the aspirations of the Zionists, the convention will be of unusual interest. The invitation which has been formally extended by the Turkish parliament to the oppressed Jews of Russia to come and settle within the empire makes the present movement a Zionist activities all the more significant. In connection with the progress of the movement it is expected that messages will be received by the convention from the foremost leaders of the Zionist movement in Europe.

UNVEIL STATUE OF STEPHEN LEE

MEMORIAL TO CONFEDERATE FIGHTER DEDICATED

IS THE FIRST MONUMENT To a Soldier Of the South To Be Erected in the Vicksburg National Military Park.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Vicksburg, Miss., June 11.—In the presence of hundreds of Confederate veterans and other spectators, an overhanging memorial of Gen. Stephen D. Lee, one of the most beloved leaders of "The Lost Cause," was unveiled today in the Vicksburg national military park. The ceremony was made the occasion for a grand demonstration in which every veteran in gray who was physically able, and many a one was not, participated with an energy and enthusiasm which defied the life-sapping years that have gone since they bore arms for the South.

Prominent men of the North as well as the South shared in the program of the day. The exercises were opened with a salute by the Warren Light Artillery. The first address was by Col. Henry Watterson, of Louisville, who paid an eloquent tribute to the life and deeds of Gen. Lee. Then came the unveiling of the memorial. The drawing aside of the flags which draped the heroic bronze figure representing the veterans' beloved leader and the first gun of the artillery salute which immediately followed was the signal for an outburst of cheering, which was swollen to thunderous applause by the sons and daughters of the veterans. Tears dimmed the eyes and coursed down the cheeks of the "boys in gray" and their emotion-choked voices would have been but a feeble effort had it not have been for the assistance given by a younger and homing-paying generation.

General Clement A. Evans, of Atlanta, delivered the presentation speech and was enthusiastically cheered by the veterans. At the conclusion of General Evans' address, Major-Gen. Frederick D. Grant, U. S. A., spoke briefly, accepting on behalf of the War Department the sacred trust imposed upon it by the whole nation. Gen. Grant was followed by Col. George R. Peck, of Chicago, who delivered the oration of the day. The exercises were closed with a benediction by the Rev. H. P. Sproule, D. D., a prominent Confederate veteran and a warm personal friend of Gen. Stephen D. Lee.

The event today was a fitting close to what is universally recognized as probably the last "great" gathering of the Confederate veterans, which concluded its sessions yesterday at Memphis. Thousands of veterans, their families and friends, took advantage of the reduced rates to come from Memphis to this city to attend the unveiling. The crowd was further increased by the presence of many visitors from all parts of Mississippi and Louisiana. Both states were represented by their highest officials as well as by many other prominent citizens.

The unveiling of the statue was the fruition of several years of patient and loving effort, and every man who wore the Southern uniform had in his heart a desire to be present. Touching sentiment was heard on every side and the thanks of the entire nation were offered by the orators to those whose generous contributions resulted in the erection of the memorial.

The memorial is the first statue of a Confederate officer to be erected in the Vicksburg national military park. It occupies a prominent, high elevation in the park, just south of the A. & V. railroad, where Gen. Lee was placed in command of his troops during the memorable siege of Vicksburg.

The statue was modeled by Henry Klitson, the Massachusetts sculptor. The figure is of colossal size, standing nine feet high. The attitude is that of expectancy, of momentary rest before decisive action. The left leg is raised and thrown forward, and the unheathed sword, held in both hands, rests upon it, the scabbard hanging by the side. The uniform and accoutrements are the familiar ones of the wearers of the gray. The insignia of rank appear on the coat collar. The buttons bear in relief the eagle and eleven stars. The details of the armor were carefully worked out by the sculptor, but with an evident purpose not to detract the main motive, that of creating a faithful likeness of one of the best beloved of generals in the Confederate Army.

The cost of the memorial was in the neighborhood of $10,000, which was raised by contributions from many sources. North and South. It was made possible largely through the energy and initiative of Captain William T. Rhyne, chairman of the national military park commission, who, as an Iowa soldier, fought against General Lee in 1863, and who, as an associate in the work of the commission, became one of his warmest friends and admirers.

MARTIN CURTIS TOOK HIS LIFE?

FOUND ASPHYXIATED IN ROOM
IN ELDRED BLOCK.

SEMBLANCE OF FOUL PLAY

Consisting of Fish-line Running from Gas-stops to Outer Corridor Was Not Regarded as Convincing.

Again this morning a shock ran through the community at the news that another one who dwelt within its borders and bore himself as one harassed by few, if any, weights, cares, had, seemingly by his own will, taken the leap into darkness and eternity. Martin G. Curtis, lately proprietor of the Colonial moving picture theatre on South Main street and engaged in many and various lines of business during his fifteen years' residence in Janesville, was found cold in death in the room in the old Eldred block which he had occupied for three years past, shortly before ten o'clock, and two gas jets, turned on full force and filling the apartment with the reeking and sickening odor, left no ground for conjecture as to the manner of his passing.

As if pulled by a String
And yet, if there could be no guess-work about the direct cause of his death, there were certain circumstances which at first seemed to point unmistakably to foul play. From the combination electric light and gas chandelier in the center of the room to and through a broken corner of the painted glass, transom over the outer door, ran a piece of fine fish-line, to which had been spliced about three yards of cotton twine. The other end of this string hung down in the corridor and a ladder, leading to the left nearby, left in a position which might indicate that someone on the outside had climbed up and pulled the cord. The other end of the line ran through a copper-wire hutch-holder which had been screwed into the ceiling and then sloped down to connect with two of the three gas-stops of the central chandelier, thus operating, if such a thing were possible, at an angle both to the perpendicular and the horizontal. For the stop nearest the bed was not in alignment with the one nearest the door and none of the experimenters who tried to work the cord this morning could succeed in throwing the rear stop while open—the position in which it was found. And in attempting to pull the first stop upon the twine end of the contraption quickly broke in two.

Door Was Unlocked
The room, which was at one time occupied by City Engineer Korch, has two windows opening onto North River street and a door on the north side gives access to a toilet room which may also be entered from the corridor. The latch on the main door to Mr. Curtis' room was sprung, but the door had not been snugly closed and the bolt was not in the socket. The sliding bar used to doubly secure the portal on the inside had not been thrown. Neither was the outer door of the lavatory or the one leading into the room made fast.

The Ghastly Discovery
While making his rounds, distributing the morning mail, which had been left for the building, John Duller, a Western Union messenger boy, had occasion to leave a message at the Curtis room. He detected a strong odor of gas as he paused at the portal and about the same time one of two pedestrians who had turned the corner from Milwaukee street noticed that one of the mains had sprung a leak. The boy reported back to headquarter and after a consultation, Fireman William Conroy and "Pick" McNeil were called upon to break in the portal. They found force unnecessary, as it yielded to their lightest touch. The unfortunate man was undressed and lying in his bed but one glance at the face sufficed to tell them that they had come too late. Closed windows were quickly thrown open and calls were sent for Chief of Police Apophy, District Attorney J. L. Fisher, and physician, Dr. M. A. Cunningham found that the body was not yet cold but was certain that the vital spark had gone out several hours before. Dr. George Chittenden was of the same opinion.

No Disorder in Room
There was no disorder in the room. The garments which Mr. Curtis had discarded were neatly laid upon a chair, and his necktie, collar, and hat upon the dresser. A gilt-framed photograph in life had evidently been moved forward on the bureau top as he to be the first object which caught the eye on that side of the chamber, and back of it were a row of other photos, mostly of little folk he had known and loved. Near the bureau hung a large framed photograph of the old homestead at Elmhurst ten miles from Janesville, Pa., where his mother and several brothers and sisters still reside. In the upper drawer of the bureau was a .38-caliber revolver loaded with six cartridges. An alarm clock on a chair near the bed was set for seven o'clock. The personal effects included a large diamond ring, a gold watch, keys, $1.08 in change, postal cards and various letters from friends, the Western Union exchange of Milwaukee, and also notations and receipts showing that in June, 1908, Mr. Curtis had negotiated a loan of $100 from the American Guaranty Co. of Chicago, now in the hands of a receiver; and that he had deposited a $1,000 fifteen-year endowment policy, taken out with the Penn Mutual in 1909, with the Rock County Nat'l bank as collateral for loans and had paid his last premium on Feb. 9, 1909. A withdrawal card from the local "Savings" lodge, issued in 1907, and several tickets for the forthcoming minstrel show to be given by the "Elks" lodge, of which he was a member, were also found in his pockets.

Letter He Did Not Read
The letter which the messenger boy left at his door was opened at the instance of the District Attorney and read as follows:

Mr. Martin Curtis,
Dear Sir:
Your note will be due June 18.
Yours very truly,
A. R. GIBSON.

The $600 note about to fall due to Andrew Gibson was taken out at the time Mr. Curtis started the five-cent theatre and a mortgage on the property is said to have been given as security.

Went Home Very Late
With Byron A. Beckhus, his assistant at the theatre, Curtis had a little disagreement yesterday afternoon but everything passed off pleasantly in the evening and they walked up the street together after closing the place for the night. Later on he chatted with Clarence Burdick and a piano-player he was thinking of engaging, in front of Harry "Phonograph" saloon. He was in McDonald's restaurant after midnight and some claim to have seen him in the lobby of the Hotel Meyer at about two o'clock this morning.

Thirty-nine Years Old
The deceased was 39 years of age last March according to his cousin, Charles Curtis, who was one of the first to reach the scene of the tragedy this forenoon. Milo Curtis, also of this city, is an uncle. At various times, either alone or in association with various partners, the young man conducted what was known as the Saratoga saloon on West Milwaukee street and the cigar store now owned by Ernest Meyer. His circle of acquaintances was larger than that of most men and he was well liked by all who knew him.

Telegraphed for Medicine
Dr. H. B. Anderson of Orlinda was another one of the dead man's friends who visited the room this morning. The doctor states that about six months ago Curtis had a bad nervous spell and that he gave him a prescription which brought him around in short order. On Wednesday of this week Curtis telegraphed him at Orlinda to send some more of the medicine, but it chanced that the doctor did not return to his home until 5 p. m. and the last train for Janesville had departed at 4:05.

Coroner's Jury
The coroner's jury impaneled by Justice Tallman consists of Charles Schwartz, E. H. Connell, Fred Sheldon, Thomas Welsh, Oscar Rowe, and Sutton Norris. After viewing the scene of the tragedy an adjournment was taken until 1:30 p. m. and at that time another adjournment was taken until Monday at 1:30. The remains were removed to Klabbers undertaking rooms. It is probable that the body will be taken to Pennsylvania for burial.

COLD RAINS HINDER PLANTING OF CROP

Wet Weather Prevents Preparing of Fields and Transplanting
of Tobacco Plants.

According to the Edgerton Tobacco Reporter, the planting of the new crop has started in a moderate way but a long season of cold rains during the week has interfered materially with the work of preparing the fields and also delayed the transplanting which might be well under way. All this time the plants are gaining in size, though the cool weather has checked their growth somewhat, but the continuous rains are feared—the rotting of the plants in some of the more forward beds. Clearing weather now is only needed to see the planting season under full swing. The soil is in most excellent shape for the early rooting of the plants as soon as they are transplanted to the field, but as matters now stand growers will have plenty of bustling times ahead until the crop is safely pitched in the fields. There ought to be an abundance of plants ready for the intended acreage by the time the farmer can get around to attend to the transplanting.

Market Conditions
There is no change to note in the conditions that prevail about the local markets. There is a little work yet to be finished in the handling of last season's crop and stemming operations have been started at a few warehouses which premises to last for some months to come. Otherwise matters are extremely quiet. Some old seed is moving in a moderate way. We note the purchase of 64 cases of '06 and '07 crops of Albert Munson, of A. Jensen & Sons. A 100-case lot of '07 and another 100 of '06 have been sold by Janesville packers during the week. There is considerable inquiry for samples coming from the manufacturing trade but no large transactions are reported.

In Praise of Versatility.
On a member of parliament being accused of bad spelling, Disraeli humorously defended him by declaring that "a man must be an idiot who could not spell a word more ways than one."

OBITUARY.

Miss Mary Evenson.
Shortly after twelve o'clock this noon the spirit of Miss Mary A. Evenson took flight to the world beyond after months of suffering the last ten days of which has been in intense pain. Mary A. Evenson was born in Janesville, September 12, 1852, and has made this city her home since childhood. With her father and brother she made her home at 336 Milton avenue where she took the place of the mother gone before her to the world beyond. A father, Gilbert Evenson, two brothers, William and Charles H. of Harbort, are left to mourn her loss.

Mrs. T. M. Purdy.
Orfordville, June 11.—Mrs. T. M. Purdy, one of the oldest residents of the village, died last evening at the home of her son, F. B. Purdy, aged eighty-eight years and nine months. Mrs. Purdy was born in New York state and came to Wisconsin many years ago, making her home in Orfordville. Her husband died twenty years ago, since which time she and her son, her sole surviving relative, have made their home together. The funeral will be held at Saturday at ten o'clock from the home and two o'clock from the B. church, Rev. T. W. Boag, officiating.

William Harrison.
The funeral of the late William Harrison will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the home of Frank Heck, Dodge and South Academy streets.

Infant Child.
The infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Zerlind, 641 Williams street, died yesterday morning, a few days after birth. The funeral was held this afternoon at three o'clock from the home of the parents. The

Although it may be the custom on the "old sod," practically and approved of from time immemorial, to keep pigs in close proximity or even nearness to the habitation of the owner, the custom is discontinued, even frowned upon, in this country and enlightened age, the authorities having gone so far as to prohibit it within the city limits. In connection with this matter it is being indicated and even openly stated that one of the conductors has so far defied custom and authority as to keep the aforesaid animals in his back yard, much to the secret indignation of the neighbors who talk of lynching
him. Whether or not he will heed
the signs of the approaching storm remains to be seen.

BRIEF LOCAL NEWS.

Jefferson Kindergarten Picnic: This morning the pupils of the Jefferson school kindergarten held their annual picnic, going and coming from the picnic grounds on a special street car.
Ice cream, cake and fruit were served
and enjoyed by the little tots.

Played Bridge: This afternoon was ladies' bridge day at the golf club and the second games of the first series were played. The games this year will be played on Friday instead of Thursday, as last year.

Case Adjourned: The case of Otto Storin, who was arrested and brought into municipal court to answer to the charge of assault and battery, was adjourned until tomorrow morning at ten o'clock. The man was arrested on complaint of his wife. He pleaded not guilty when arraigned before Judge Pined this afternoon.

CALVINVILLE CENTER.

Calvinville Center, June 10.—Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Townsend and son, Lynn, of Chicago, arrived here Tuesday for a two weeks' visit with relatives and friends.

Mrs. McClure of Deloit visited her parents last week and was in attendance at the Holpers' union.

Miss Besala Townsend closed a successful year's school, June 4th, with appropriate exercises, after which ice cream and cake were served and the occasion was enjoyed by both old and young. Diplomats were presented to three pupils, namely: Floyd Solek, Clayton Honeycutt and Morton Solek.
Our high school students are home
for their summer vacation.

Paul Chase will soon take charge of the depot at this place.

Mr. Finn Murra missed the train at Freeport and consequently there was no lecture Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Wallace Andrew was called to Harvard Monday by the serious illness of her son's wife.

O. H. Howard shipped livestock from here Tuesday.

Mrs. Arb Townsend and daughter,
Bessie, went to Janesville, Thursday,
for a few days' visit with relatives.

Well, New Glarus has made some arrangements for the glorious fourth,
but there are a lot of our business people that don't seem to take interest in it.

MILTON

Milton, Wis., June 11.—The college
trustees have secured Miss Maybelle William of Edgerton as instructor in eloquence and physical culture for women for the coming school year.
Miss William is a graduate of the Cumnock School of Oratory and is highly recommended by the faculty of that institution.

The college trustees, in conjunction with the village board, will put in a cement walk in front of their property on 11th street, occupied by President Dahand, and grade the front of the lot. This is a notable and long needed improvement and will add much to the appearance of the premises and the street.

Do not forget to hang out your flags
on Wednesday and Thursday in honor of commencement week.
Roy Potter of Edgerton, Ill., is a commencement visitor.

On Monday evening next the Janesville Lodge of Elks will present to the fun-loving public of Janesville a Minstrel entertainment. To say that it is bigger, better and more elaborate than ever would be putting it mildly.
It is going to be more fun to the minute, more laughs to the second, than any other show ever given in the Myer theatre.

Professor R. A. Grubbs came to Janesville last Saturday. He closed his contract with the Elks' entertainment committee that evening and began his work of constructing a minstrel show on Tuesday night. Monday having been so rainy that no one appeared at the first rehearsal.

The skeptical laughter at the idea of a minstrel show being organized and drilled in a week. They came to the rehearsal Tuesday to laugh and went away filled with the music of the chorus and vowing the show would be a success. So it has been at every succeeding rehearsal.

Professor Grubbs' methods are unique, his songs catchy and the men who have been designated by the Elks to end men have some of the most great work to be done that will make even old-time minstrel men sit up and take notice. Taking it all in all, it promises to be a revelation in home productions that no one can fail to miss. The seat sale opens Monday morning at the People's Drug store at nine A. M.

Just a word added to what has been said. The parade Monday at noon headed by the Imperial band is something that will be talked about for weeks afterwards and will beat anything of its kind ever seen in the city. This is just a part of what is to be offered to the public for their evening's entertainment. Just a small part, but it will be worth the attention of everyone who enjoys a good time.

Clear Head Means Success.

It is imperative on the man who would win and carve his way to the front to keep a clear head. You must keep your brain alert and on the watch to detect opportunity as it comes along so as to give your hands warning to seize it just as soon as it is within reach.

All Brass and a Couple of Yards Wide

This is one of our K & C all brass beds, not iron tubing veneered with brass, the highest quality of construction and finish that can be put into a bed, and when we sell it to a customer, it will be, ten years from that day, with proper usage, as good as
new. There is some satisfaction in selling beds of this quality,
and true economy and entire satisfaction in buying them.

We have a style for every taste and purse.
Particular attention is called to our excellent display just
at this time.

FIRE LOSSES.

The average daily losses by fire during the past five years, is $737,535, or a total of $1,346,000,000, according to a report made last month by J. Montgomery Hare, president of the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

This wholesale destruction of property is appalling, and has no parallel in any other country. It is due in part to faulty construction, but more largely to gross carelessness. Yet there is no law to remedy either of these defects.

The Board of Underwriters appeared by invitation before the National Conservation commission with the following recommendations:

"First: That the public should be brought to understand that property destroyed by fire is gone forever and is not replaced by the distribution of insurance, which is a tax collected for the purpose.

"Second: That the states severally adopt and enforce a building code which shall require a high type of safe construction, essentially following the code of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, which has been prepared under the advice of experts in construction and engineering.

"Third: That the states severally establish, and maintain at the expense of the state, an official or officials who shall be required to investigate the cause and origin of all fires, and who, when crime has been committed, shall submit the facts to the grand jury or proper indicting body. Such officials should have conferred upon them the lawful right and power to enter premises, to examine under oath and to make arrests.

"Fourth: That municipalities adopt ordinances governing the use and keeping of explosives, especially inflammable commodities and other special hazards, such as electric wiring, the storing of refuse, waste, packing material, etc., in buildings, yards or areas, and that proper and regular inspections of premises by the police and members of the fire departments be made with a view to the enforcement of such ordinances and removing dangerous conditions."

About the first question asked, after a fire, is: "Was he insured?" and if fully protected no thought is given to the fact that the loss is paid by direct tax on every policy-holder.

The mills of New England are constructed under the supervision of insurance experts and subjected to the most rigid inspection two or three times a year. They pay regular rates for insurance and at the end of the year receive a rebate, so liberal that the cost is merely nominal. This is what right construction means, and it should be rigidly enforced in all lines of business.

The origin of fires is equally important, and the states can well afford to spend money in this direction. The time should come, and that speedily, when this great waste is checked.

THE BLACK HAND

Disclosure made during the past few days indicate that the country is honeycombed with an Italian organization known as the Black Hand whose mission is to extort money from their fellow countrymen, on threats of violence.

That these threats have proved successful is fully established by letters which have been confiscated by socret service men who are now engaged in efforts to disband this dastardly organization. This will be a difficult thing to do, as the headquarters of the Black Hand are in the mother country and representatives in America are simply emissaries sent out to perfect the villainous work.

At Columbus, Ohio, is a wealthy Italian fruit merchant by the name of Amicon, from whom the organization attempted to extort $10,000. The following shows the methods pursued:

"Dear John Amicon: We have sent you several letters. We have put dynamite behind your door and you are dead. Ugly wretch, you need not lament if when you do not expect it, it will cost you your life. Already our hand has you under the register of the dead. We have arrived at the time and already two of us are under obligations to kill you even though you are guarded by a thousand police. Take the street as your friend, Mont. Petrosino did. Ugly wretch that you are that you content yourself with trying to avoid the payment of the money, $10,000, but by the blood of God we are back of you. We have learned your store and you will be accosted when you do not expect it, the sight of two dangerous thugs and then you will sleep forever. One thing I tell you, no one can belong to our band who has not killed ten persons. We have killed kings and emperors. Consider a fly like you? No! No! Do not think it. We know that you are rich and you must give up some blood. If you wish to avert your death, you will search for an honorable person to come to Pittsburgh, and while he is searching for us he will be found. We advise you that if you go to the police you can count yourself dead—that is, you do first."

"Wretch. Do your duty without the police and it will be well. Either money or your life. In a short time you will see that we know how to do it. Soon you will hear the cross."

This letter is dated June 9 and was turned over to the authorities who recently arrested a lot of suspects in Ohio. It ought to be possible for America in some way to rid the nation of this class of people.

George T. Angel, the friend of dumb animals, died not long ago at the old age. More than 40 years ago he founded the little paper known as "Our Dumb Animals," and scattered it broadcast over the land. It was the mouthpiece of a kingdom unable to speak for itself, and Mr. Angel made it eloquent in appeals for help and sympathy. The man has gone to his reward, but willing hands have taken up the work which will be continued by the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

Four New York women have started on a 4,000-mile automobile trip across the continent to Seattle. The chauffeur is president of the Woman's Automobile club. She proposes to keep the machine in repair. The party expect to be on the road for a month. Women have rights which should be respected.

Mr. Bryan is preparing to run for the senate, and will test his strength before the people of Nebraska at a primary election in September. This will not interfere with his candidacy for the presidency in 1912.

Latin and algebra are to be dropped from the course of study in the elementary schools of Chicago. The argument used is that boys who graduate from the grades, as many do, can better invest their time, and so they can.

Secretary Mao Yongh seemed to be talking through his hat, on his recent visit to Chicago, and the president is in no way responsible for his utterances. Just how Mao Yongh secured a cabinet portfolio is a surprise to many people familiar with his political career.

The city of Milwaukee seems to be ignoring the new law which provides that all applications for saloon licenses must be published three times before action is taken. Why should the Cream City be exempt? The law is a good one and should be enforced.

Here she comes, and she's a sight, in her gown of snowy white, thing of beauty and of charm, leaning on her lover's arm! Bright her eyes as summer skies, and a glory in them lies, borrowed from the realms above, where the only light is love. And her lover looks so sweet, shaven, perfumed, groomed and clean; pride is glowing in his eyes, that he won so fair a prize. Lover, lover, do your best, never to wound that gentle breast; lover, never bring a smart, to that true and trusting heart! Strive to earn the love you've won, as the years their courses run, knowing ever, as you strive, that no man who is alive, and no man since Adam died, ever deserved a fair June bride!

WHEN IT'S CLOUDY.
(Written for the Gazette.)
One day when the rain was streaming And the world seemed dark and cold, I stood at the window dreaming Of the happy days of old: As my thoughts went idly straying Back to years long passed away, In my fancy I was playing With my playmates young and gay.

I could see the home of childhood On the hill among the trees And the roses in the wildwood Gently waving in the breeze,

Then the scene was changed to autumn, When the fields of golden grain Stood in shoores to wait the dull hum Of the thrasher in the lane.

Then the long, bleak winter coming With its cold, white, winding sheet, Stopped the thrasher's drowsy hum, minding

As it came its snow and sleet: When the winter wind howled madly Over its plaintive, mournful sigh, School through the maples, sadly As a lost soul's careless cry:

Then I felt the warm sun beaming As it touched the snow-dusted hills, And the winter, in my dreaming, Turned to spring and rippling rills: When, in life, the rain is falling And dark clouds streak the sky, I get sunshine by recalling Scenes of brighter days gone by.

HAPPY WE.
We modern Americans are the most unhappy people on the face of the earth because we are the most prosperous people, because we are the most highly educated. Professor Abner W. Small of Chicago University.

No—emphatically not. The statement is untrue, and the reasons given prove the opposite—that is to say—

We Americans are the happiest people on earth because we are the most prosperous, the freest and the best educated.

Or, to put it differently—Most of the unhappiness suffered by the American people is because of lack of prosperity, lack of freedom, lack of education.

Truly we are prosperous. To put it in a sentence—

We have but 7 per cent of the territory of the earth and but 5 per cent of its population, but we have twice as much life insurance as all the rest of the world's people and half as much money in our savings banks as all the other people on earth put together.

And we are well educated. We have enrolled in our public schools 17,000,000 students, and there are 3,000,000 in the colleges and private schools, which brings the total up to 20,000,000 young people. We spend on this education $200,000,000 yearly—more than the entire sum spent by five leading European nations, including England.

We are a free people. Making due allowance for inequalities and for abuses under our system we enjoy the largest measure of individual liberty ever known by any people in the history of the race.

And—Because of our prosperity, freedom and education we also enjoy in the highest degree all intellectual and spiritual pleasures, and we are the most progressive as we are the most humane of all people, so that, whether upon the physical, intellectual or moral plane—The conditions of living in America make for happiness more so than anywhere else.

We are free to work and free to love. And those two conditions—the freedom to work at congenial tasks for a fair compensation and the liberty to love and marry whomsoever we choose regardless of social or financial obligations—these are ideal conditions.

Here is a Good Reason For the Excellence of Our Bake Goods

We have one specially built oven for pies and cakes, and two specially built ovens for baking bread, which must be kept 150 degrees hotter than cake ovens.

Each oven is the best in the world for its particular purpose. That is why our goods are always baked just right.

Tomorrow special, Chicago Butter Biscuits, a delicious coffee cake, 15c doz, or 15c a cake. From your gro-

PHONE COMPANY'S PLANS DISCUSSED

WISCONSIN TELEPHONE COM-PANY PLAN RADICAL CHANGES
IN JANSVILLE.

TO ERECT NEW BUILDING

Have Options on Several Sites for Building—Also Plan Central Energy System Phones.

According to President A. Burt, of Milwaukee, head of the Wisconsin telephone system, Janesville is to have a new building erected at once for the sole use of the Wisconsin Telephone company. It is to be a two-story structure, modern and up-to-date
to meet the requirements of the business of the company. Its location has not been definitely decided upon, but options have been secured on several pieces of property and the chief engineer of the company is here to look over the field so as to prepare plans for the proposed building.

It is in all the improvement of company plans to put in Janesville.
When the new building is finished a new switchboard is to be installed—
one of the latest model central energy or common battery system. This means the old-time method of ringing the bell for central is to be done away with and all the subscribers will have to do is to lift the receiver off the hook and talk to central. Janesville is one of the last cities of its size in the state to have this system installed. President Burt is most anxious to have the Janesville office
one of the best in the state and said he would take special pains with its construction and equipment.

The meeting today, at which the state officials of the company and officers and managers from nearly every sub-license company in the state and several composing the sovereign districts of Wisconsin were present was a complete success and is thought to be one of the best means ever adopted to bring out the advantages derived from co-operation between the great national systems and the local exchanges. The delegates manifested great interest in the talks given by the state officials and while profiting from the practical hints
given will doubtless talk up the advantages derived from the union of interests.

The meeting this morning, which was held at the East Side Odd Fellow's hall was called to order at ten o'clock by District Manager H. A.
Olivier. The opening address by President A. Burt of Milwaukee, who was followed by General Manager H. O.
Seymour, was along general lines,
both he and Mr. Seymour brought out the advantages of the connection of the local exchanges with the long distance lines, both for the local exchanges, the subscribers and the large company. Their talks were followed by an address by Chief Engineer Wm. R. McGovern, who gave some practical hints in regard to construction and maintenance.

This afternoon, the meeting which was called at 2:30, was given over to a discussion by the different officials of the best way to operate the sub-license lines both to the advantage of the owners and subscribers, and to an explanation of the system of bookkeeping which has become necessary
since the ruling of the railroad rate commission. Under these rulings, the telephone companies are divided into four classes, each class being compelled to keep their books after a certain manner, both for the protection of the companies and subscribers, and for the convenience of the rate commission in their investigations. This session was adjourned this afternoon, but as the convention is an annual affair, another will be held here in the course of a year, probably in the proposed new building.

The officials present today at the meetings were: President A. Burt of Milwaukee, Assistant President M. J.
Carney of Milwaukee, General Manager H. O. Seymour of Milwaukee, Chief Engineer Wm. R. McGovern of Milwaukee; Superintendent of Construction Joseph P. Brennan of Milwaukee; General Construction Agent C.
S. Slack, Milwaukee; and D. R. Burr of Milwaukee, who has charge of the sub-licensees.

Delegates from sub-license companies: Thomas M. Jackson, president
Lake Telephone, Shullsburg; Will R.
George, of the Lake Telephone, Shullsburg; Thomas Doyle, manager Lake
Telephone, Shullsburg; John Kryder,
Juda; Byron Snyder, president, Clinton, Wis.; J. G. Wells, vice-president, Cuba City; Bert Hoffmann, president,

WINS A GOLD WATCH GIVEN BY A LEAGUE

Leon Drake Receives Prize Offered by Loyal Temperance Legion for Best Department.

On Wednesday afternoon the Loyal Temperance Legion held a meeting at the Presbyterian church. This day was known as flower mission day of the league and many beautiful flowers were brought to decorate the rooms and later taken to cheer the homes of the sick and infirm. The following program was given during the afternoon: Song—Carl Ashcraft;
and Willard Hild; recitation—Daisy Jones; recitation—Evelyn Baker;
reading—Harry Maccomb; recitation—Dorothy Jones; reading—Carl Ashcraft;
reading—Willard Hild; recitation—Willis Jones; reading—Evelyn Baker.
At the close of this interesting program, Dr. George Webster came forward and presented to the boy who had the best deportment for the last three months a gold watch. This much coveted prize was won by Leon Drake, the three next ranking were given a book. These were Lyle Beard, Willard Hild and Carl Ashcraft. The Legion is growing in numbers and interest and they are looking forward to entertaining the state
L. T. L. convention July 16-18.

Great Piano Slaughter

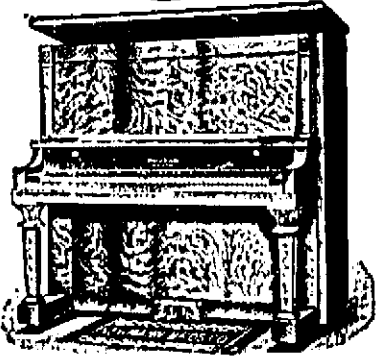

SATURDAY, JUNE 12

Quick Sales!
Small Profits!

NOW IS THE ACCEPTED TIME TO SAVE $100 TO $150 ON EACH PIANO NAMED BELOW.

Newman Bros. pianos are known the wide world over by thousands of talented musicians for their sweet sympathetic tone, prompt repeating pivot action, and great durability. The Newman Bros. use the very best material inside and outside that money can buy.

The best quality of Pochman imported steel wire is used, which is essential for good tone, also will keep the piano in tune longer than cheap wire, because cheap wire stretches. The hammers also are made from the best material. This is another very important feature in a high grade piano, for it produces superior quality of tone. The celebrated brass flange action (instead of wood) is used exclusively in the Newman Bros. piano, preventing keys sticking from dampness and is very durable. It is also light and responsive to the touch. In fact the piano is built for a life-time and wears like a diamond. The next best thing is the price that you can purchase one on Saturday.

JANESVILLE, WIS.

FATHER OF WATERS TO BE LOOKED INTO

Waterways Commission Will Inspect One Thousand Miles of the Mississippi River.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
St. Paul, Minn., June 11.—One thousand miles of the Mississippi river will be inspected in a most thorough manner by the inland waterways commission, acting under instructions from congress, the work to be performed within the next two months. After completing the examination of the sections of the river for which deep water channel plans are under consideration, the commission will complete its work by visiting Europe and making a very careful study of the uses to which rivers are put in the old world.

Official announcements state that commission will meet in Buffalo on July 1, proceeding up the lakes to Duluth and thence to St. Paul, making this the starting point for the long down-river journey, upon which the commissioners will be accompanied by prominent government engineers engaged in river work.

The commission will be met at St. Paul by prominent business men interested in the deeper channel project and several important matters including the proposed harbor plans for St. Paul, the improvement of the Minnesota river and the high dam question which covers proposed work between St. Paul and Minneapolis.

From St. Paul the route of the commission will be down the river to the mouth of the Ohio, inspecting the work in progress at various points and investigating recent developments in the improvement plan. The commissioners will not inspect the lower river but will leave in July for Germany. After a study of German methods of making rivers transport bulky freight, the commission will proceed to Holland to study the canals of that country, visiting England, France and Austria in turn.

From the head of navigation at St. Paul to the mouth of the Ohio the trip will be made on government boats and all the expenses of the investigation are to be borne by the government.

SHORT COURTSHIP ENDS IN WEDDING OF WAUKESHA GIRL

Teaching the Blind.
An interesting entertainment, arranged by Miss Winifred Holt of New York, secretary of the New Association for the Blind, was a lip-dance. A program including swimming races, fancy diving, life-saving, butterfly dancing and all sorts of games, in which blind children took part, was arranged. Miss Helen Koller was very enthusiastic about the entertainment, which she said illustrated so well what a difference in courage and strength a well-developed body makes when a child is blind.

Skeptical.
"Did you ever have appendicitis?" said the insurance man. "Well," answered the skeptic, "I was operated on. But I never felt sure whether it was a case of appendicitis or a case of professional curiosity."

Waukesha, Wis., June 11.—After a courtship of one week, J. G. Stroud, a millionaire lumberman of Waukesha, N. Dak., and Miss Mabel Leverance of this city were married here Thursday. Some time ago a Waukesha man was at Williston and Stroud confided in him that he was anxious to secure a wife, but that necessity was a rarity in that part of the country. He was informed that if there was one thing more than another that Waukesha was noted for, it was pretty girls, and he was given the name and address of Miss Leverance. He wrote to her and received a reply. The couple exchanged photographs and this week Stroud came to this city and it is a case of love at first sight.

Wool Suits at Less Than Half Price

EDITORIAL.
Buying merchandise today must be done on faith. We realize this in its true sense, and every bit of merchandise that is offered in our various departments has first been examined by us to see that it is up to standard. Then a price is set on it, whether we bought it, particularly low or at standard price, and that price is NOT the highest we think it will sell at, but the lowest price at which we can afford to sell it for. That is why so many of our offers look like bargains when comparisons are made. We offer some special bargains each week with the hope of getting you to visit our store frequently. Read today's offerings.

All Lace Curtains at About HALF PRICE

Despite the bad weather we have had all that we could do all week in our lace curtain section. Janesville people know a good thing when they see it. Women are overjoyed at the bargains we offer. They came, told their friends, and came again. Janesville never offered such LACE CURTAIN values before. Some lots have already disappeared, and others are growing smaller daily. Do not put off coming until all are gone. Come TOMORROW—SATURDAY.

The Power To Do Good

And the Power to Be Good Are Much the Same.

One writer has truly said during sleep and rest, sufficient energy and strength should be supplied for tomorrow's work. If you will learn how to allow perfect relaxation to take place in every part of your body and how to fall asleep whenever you desire, you will need no other remedy than good food to keep you in perfect physical condition.

A food does not need to be heavy to be strengthening. Wheat possesses every element found in the human body and is the most perfect food, a daily, delicious breakfast food, always ready to serve, contains all the nourishment and strength of wheat in easily digested form.

Be sure it's Egg-O-Seas you get, for it's the famous and delicious "Egg-O-Seas" and the "E-C" Corn Flakes so dainty, so appealing and so strengthening. A breakfast of either means a satisfied appetite, a grateful stomach and a good day's work free from "furious headaches" or dizziness. Be sure it's the Egg-O-Seas product. Always watch for the E-C Mark on the package.

Whitewater, Monday, and has been confined to the house since with an attack of yellow jaundice.

D. G. Cummings was called to Whitewater, Thursday, to do veterinary work for Mr. Cox.

MONTICELLO.
Monticello, June 10.—Dwight W. Flower spent Tuesday at Bellevue for the guest of his cousin, Messrs. S. and F. Smith. On Wednesday morning he departed for Plattville to remain until the end of the week.

Ezra Hunter of Monroe is a guest at the home of his son, Dr. Edward Hunter. He came here from Washington, D. C., where he has been sending a number of days with relatives.

Jacob Vogel went to Milwaukee Tuesday morning and returned Wednesday evening. He was accompanied by his son, Jacob, who will remain there a week or two for the purpose of having his injured eye treated.

Mrs. Walter Hugart, who was called here last week by the illness of her mother, Mrs. Jane Richards, returned to her home at Oskola the first of the week.

The foundation of D. Zentner's new house which is to be erected on Oswald Zentner's farm east of the wooden mill, is nearly completed. The work is being done by Harlow and Snow.

George Butler has traded his Dakota land for an improved farm of 170 acres near Plattville, Wis. Mr. Butler recently returned from a trip to Plattville, at which time the deal was made.

Monticello will cross bats with the Argyle team on the local grounds Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Argyle has an exceptionally strong team and a worth while game will doubtless result.

NEW CLEW IN BINKLEY CASE.
Police Find Where Revolver Was Purchased—Drop Suicide Theory.

Chicago, June 11.—The suicide theory was definitely eliminated from the investigation of the killing of Dr. John T. Binkley, Sr., who was found dead in the Wellington hotel, when Coroner P. M. Hoffman learned that the revolver found beside the body of the doctor was bought in New York.

The name of the store where the old little "yeggman's" revolver was purchased has been learned, and an accurate description of the man who bought it and then departed for Chicago is in the hands of the coroner.

At the request of the police the inquiry was postponed by Deputy Coroner Kennedy to June 23. Recent developments, the police say, demand time for investigation.

The BLACK BAG

By Louis Joseph Vance

Copyright, 1908, by the Bobbs-Merrill Co.

Of one or two things he was convinced—for one, that Stryker was a liar worthy of classification with Calender and Mrs. Nathan. His impregnable conclusion was that those whom he caught had landed the Althea, but had left her before she tripped her anchor. That they were not stowed away aboard her seemed unquestionable. The brigantine was hardly large enough for the presence of three persons, and he was sure that a secret from an inquisitive fourth—unless, indeed, they lay in hiding in the hold, for which, once the ship got under way, there could be scant excuse. And Kirkwood did not believe himself a person of sufficient importance in Calender's eyes to make that worthy endure the discomforts of a 'ween decks imprisonment throughout the voyage, even to escape recognition.

With every second, then, he was traveling farther from her to whose aid he had rushed, impelled by motives so hot headed, so innately chivalric, so unthinkingly gallant, so exceptionally idiotic!

"What else could I do?" he defended himself against the imputation of common sense. "I couldn't leave her to the mercy of that set of rogues. And heaven knows I was given every reason to believe she would be aboard this ship! Why, she herself told me that she was sailing!"

Heaven knew, too, that this folly of his had cost him a pretty penny, first and last. His watch was gone beyond recovery, his homeward passage forfeited. He no longer harbored illusions as to the steamship company presenting him with another berth in lieu of that called for by that water soaked slip of paper then in his pocket—courtesy of Stryker. He had sold for a pittance, a tithe of its value, his personal jewelry and had spent every penny he could call his own. With the money Stryker was to give him he would be able to get back to London and his third rate hotel, but not with enough over to pay that one week's room rent, or—

"Oh, the devil!" he groaned, head in hands. The future loomed wrapped in unspeakable darkness, lighted by no least ray of hope. It had been hard enough to lose a comfortable living through a gigantic convulsion of nature, but to think that he had lost all else through his own egregious folly, to find himself reduced to the homeless!

Stryker, emerging from his room for breakfast, found the passenger with a hostile look in his eye and a jaw set in ugly fashion. His eyes, too, were the abiding place of smoldering devils, and the captain, recognizing them, considerably forbore to stir them up with any untimely pleasantries. To be sure, he was antecedent on his own ship, and Kirkwood's standing aboard was nil, but then there was just enough yellow in the complexion of Stryker's soul to incline him to sidestep trouble whenever possible. And, besides, he entertained dark suspicions of his guest—suspicions he scarce dared voice even to his closest heart.

The morning meal, therefore, passed off in constrained silence. The captain ate voraciously and vociferously, pushed back his chair and went on deck to relieve the mate. The latter, a stunted little cockney with a wizened countenance and a mind as foul as his tongue, got small chance of his attempt to engage the passenger in conversation on topics that he considered fit for discussion. After the sixth or eighth snubbing he rose, in dudgeon, discharged a poisonous bit of insolence and retired to his berth, leaving Kirkwood to finish his breakfast in peace.

CHAPTER XVIII.

TO the tune of a moderating wind the morning wore away. Kirkwood went on deck once for distraction from the intolerable monotony of it all, got a sound droning of spray and was glad to dodge below and dry himself.

He had the pleasure of the mate's company at dinner, the captain remaining on deck until Frobs had finished and gone up to relieve him, and by that time Kirkwood was through.

Stryker blew down with a blustering show of cheer. "Well, well, my little man!" (It happened that he topped Kirkwood's stature by at least five inches.) "Enjoyin' yer sea trip?"

"About as much as you'd expect," snapped Kirkwood.

"Ow!" The captain began to shovel food into his face. Kirkwood watched him, fascinated with suspense. It seemed impossible that the man could continue so to employ his knife without cutting his throat from the middle.

But years of such manipulation had made him expert, and his guest, keenly disappointed, at length ceased to hope.

Between gobbles Stryker eyed him furtively.

"Treat me all right?" he demanded abruptly.

Kirkwood started out of a brown study. "What? Who? Why, I suppose I ought to be—indeed, I am grateful," he asserted. "Certainly you saved my life, and—"

"Ow, I don't mean that," Stryker gathered the imputation into his paw and flung it disdainfully to the four winds of heaven. "Bless yer art, you're welcome. I wouldn't let no dorg drown 't I could 'elp it. No," he declared, "nor a loonatic, neither."

He thrust his plate away and shifted sideways in his chair. "I 'uz just wonderin' 'bout yer teeth," he pursued, picking his teeth meditatively with a penknife. "You feeds you in them as-yuns. 'Avin never been inside one myself, it's only natural 't I be cur'us. There was one of them institutions near where I was borned—Birmingham, that is. I used to see the loonies playin' in the grounds. I remember just as well! One of 'em an' me struck up quite an acquaintance!"

"Naturally he'd take to you on sight."

"Ow! Stryker, 'ow we 't it off, altho'! You myke me think of 'im. Young chap 'o was, the 'liver spit an' himago of you. It don't happen, does it, you're the same man? He was allus plannin' to run awye an' drown 'iself!"

He wore the joke threadbare even to his own taste and in the end got heavily to his feet, starting for the companionway. "Land you this arter noon," he remarked casually, "come 3 o'clock, or thereabouts—per'aps, later. I don't know, though, as I 'd ought to let you loose."

Kirkwood made no answer. Chewing, Stryker went on deck.

In the course of an hour the American followed him. The Althea was in the wide jaws of the western Scheldt. Kirkwood approached the captain, who, acting as his own pilot, was standing by the wheel and barking sharp orders to the helmsman.

"Have you a Bradshaw on board?" asked the young man.

"Steady!" This to the man at the wheel; then to Kirkwood, "Wot's that, me lad?"

Kirkwood repeated his question. Stryker eyed him suspiciously for a thought.

"Wot 'd you want it for?"

"I want to see when I can get a boat back to England."

"H'm-m! Yes, you'll find a Bradshaw in the port locker, near the forward bulkhead. Run along now an' ply, an' mind you don't go teethin' out the pages to myke, papper boats to go sylin' in."

Kirkwood went below, found the designated locker and, opening it, saw first to his hand the familiar bulky volume.

The strap removed, the book opened easily, as if by force of habit, at the precisely tab he had wished to consult. Some previous client had left a marker between the pages—and not an ordinary bookmark by any manner of means. Kirkwood gave utterance to a little gasp of amazement and instinctively glanced up at the companionway to see if he were observed.

He was not, but for safety's sake he moved farther back into the cabin and out of the range of vision of any one on deck—a precaution which was almost immediately justified by the clumping of heavy feet upon the steps as Stryker descended in pursuit of the ever essential drink.

"Find it?" he demanded, staring blindly with eyes not yet focused to the change from light to gloom at the young man, who was sitting with the guide open on his knees, a tightly clinched fist resting on the transom at either side of him.

In reply he received a monosyllabic affirmative. Kirkwood did not look up.

"You must be a howl," commented the captain, making for the seductive locker.

"A—what?"

"A howl, readin' that snoo print there in the dark. Why don't you go 'e'er to the light? I'll 'ave to 'ave them shutters 'yken off the winders."

"I'm all right," Kirkwood went on, studying the book.

Stryker swung off his rum and wiped his lips with the back of a red paw, hesitating a moment to watch his guest.

A BLOW TO THE DEEP WATERWAY

ENGINEERS DECLARE 14-FOOT CHANNEL WOULD BE TOO COSTLY.

PUT PRICE AT $128,000,000

Board Reports to Congress That Yearly Amount Necessary for Maintenance Would Be $6,000,000—Plan Nine-Foot Project.

Washington, June 11.—Supporters of the deep waterway are not disheartened because of the unfavorable report of the government engineers who declare the plans undesirable and the cost, $128,000,000 for building and $6,000,000 yearly for maintenance, too great.

The report was based on a survey of the Mississippi river by a special board of engineers, created by act of congress. The conclusions reached by both the special board and the regular board of engineers are practically the same.

Increased Commerce Not in Sight. In considering the commercial phases of the question, the special board reported that although it had sought to obtain from commercial organizations facts as to the prospective commerce which requires a 14-foot channel, it has received very little definite information. It added that no actual large future developments of commerce are yet in sight.

The position was taken that ocean and lake vessels, such as would require a 14-foot instead of a nine-foot channel, would not be an economic means of transporting products on the river. Due to the necessity of building an ocean vessel of sufficient strength to resist storms, its cost in the United States, was estimated at about $71 for each ton of freight carried. On the great lakes the cost was estimated at $41.50. The Mississippi river steamboats and barges, capable of transporting 10,000 tons of freight on an 8 1/2-foot draft, can be built for about $12 per ton of freight carried. It was estimated. Furthermore the board pointed out, a modern lake freighter is poorly constructed for navigating a tortuous river with a swift current. When a new type of vessel has been designed, the board suggested, there will be an immediate demand for a channel of greater depth than 14 feet.

Based on Board Findings. The report of the regular board that it is not desirable to construct a navigable channel 14 feet deep from St. Louis or from Chicago to the mouth of the Mississippi was based on the conclusion of the special board that only commerce originating from sources that do not at present ship by river would justify the great cost of a 14-foot waterway.

It is claimed that the present demands of commerce between St. Louis and the gulf will be adequately met by an eight-foot channel from St. Louis to the mouth of the Ohio, and a channel of not less than nine feet in depth below the mouth of the Ohio. The board's belief is that an eight-foot channel from Chicago to St. Louis corresponding with the present eight-foot project from St. Louis to Cairo, is the least that would adequately meet the demands of commerce.

It adds that such a waterway would be desirable provided its cost is reasonable. Present and prospective demands of commerce between Chicago and the gulf would be adequately served, the board reports, by a through nine-foot channel to the gulf. Estimates for these channels have not been completed, but are promised to congress by next December.

SONGS DEFY ANGRY WAVES. Passengers on Wrecked Steamer Sing, Though in Peril.

New York, June 11.—Still singing the hilarious tunes begun when rescued from the steamship Lopez as it was being battered to pieces off Fire Island, where the vessel went ashore Wednesday night, the 514 rescued passengers reached New York on the wrecking tug Relief and Morrill. A large number of American girls, returning from abroad, led the singing.

Six lifeboats were used in transferring the Lopez's passengers from the grounded liner to the tug. The last passengers to leave the Lopez were about thirty Americans returning from a tour of Spain. There were 20 girls in this group.

Knowing that there was no immediate danger, the homecoming Americans made a lack of their adventure. Watchers on shore could hear them as the last boat load was moving from the Lopez to the tug Relief, singing, "We're Here Because We're Here Because."

"We're Here Because We're Here Because." This they continued until they arrived in New York, and they were joined by most of the passengers.

Jealous Husband Slays Wife. Burlington, Ia., June 11.—George Cox, of St. Paul, a dining car conductor on the Northern Pacific, came to Burlington yesterday and going to a rooming house, where his wife, Hester Cox, had been employed shot her to death. Jealousy is said to be the cause.

Priest Stabbed by Burglar. Utica, N. Y., June 11.—In a hand to hand encounter with three men, supposed burglars, a Franciscan father attached to St. Stephens church of Croghan, a small suburb, near here, was stabbed in the right arm last night.

Monarch Light Touch lightens the operator's load—draws less on her energy per folio. The result is that the operator is able to maintain full speed right up to closing time, finishing fresh and strong. Her efficiency is increased, the output of her machine is enlarged, and consequently the per folio cost of typewriting to her employer is reduced.

Monarch Light Touch

is the greatest advance in typewriter construction since visible writing. Let us demonstrate to you this and other Monarch features including the Monarch rigid carriage, wide pivotal type-bar bearings, tabulator, back space key, and two-color ribbon shift. Every Monarch feature has practical daily value.

South American Through Lines.

South America has not yet a transcontinental railroad, but soon will have a line reaching from the Atlantic to the Pacific. The promise has been given, and there is small doubt as to its fulfillment, that the Transandino railroad, which is to connect Buenos Ayres on the east coast with Valparaiso on the west will be open to traffic from ocean to ocean in March, 1911.

Pole Shifts Its Position.

Later information on the results of Lieut. Shackleton's expedition to the antarctic revealed much that was not discussed in the preliminary dispatches. It is now brought out plainly that the south magnetic pole, like the north magnetic pole, shifts its position. The discovery will enable geographers to revise the magnetic charts and this will render navigation safer.

SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Louisville, Ky.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has certainly done me a world of good and I cannot praise it enough. I suffered from irregularities, dizziness, nervousness, and a severe female trouble. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored me to perfect health and kept me from the operating table. I will never be without this medicine in the house."—Mrs. S. M. L. LEE, 3234 Fourth St., Louisville, Ky.

Another Operation Avoided. Adrian, Ga.—"I suffered untold misery from female troubles, and my doctor said an operation was my only chance, and I dreaded it almost as much as death. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound completely cured me without an operation."—LENA V. HENRY, R. F. D. 3.

Thirty years of unparalleled success confirm the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to cure female diseases. The great volume of unimpeachable testimony constantly pouring in proves conclusively that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a remarkable remedy for those distressing feminine ills from which so many women suffer.

Suggestive Questions on the Sunday School Lesson by Rev. Dr. Linscott.

Theological Seminary, New York, N.Y.)
Golden Text—Faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen, Heb. xi:1.
Verses 1-3.—In what respects are faith and hope similar?
If a desirable thing is possessed by faith, does that give as much, or similar satisfaction, as the possession of the thing itself?
What is the ground of our faith,
that "the worlds were framed by the word of God"?
Why do we admire the men of faith
of past years?
Verses 4-5.—Abel had a truly religious nature; now was this nature the result of his faith, or was his faith
the result of his nature?
Does this record mean that Enoch's translation was directly caused by a specific act of faith, or that his general life of faith made him such a good man that God translated him
without death?
Verse 6.—Faith is sometimes based upon outward evidence; sometimes upon personal revelation; sometimes upon intuition, and sometimes upon composite grounds: what moral or spiritual qualities, therefore, are necessary for becoming a man of faith?
(This question must be answered in writing by members of the club.)
Why is faith necessary in order to please God?
Verse 7.—What was Noah's faith
based upon, and wherein was his faith meritorious?
Verses 8-12.—What was the difference, if any, between Abraham's faith and that of the Patriarch Isaac, when they left the old country for the American land of promise?

I take it that Abraham, and the Patriarhs, while in communion with God, felt a drawing to go to the rich country in the distance about which they had heard; that they took this drawing to be the voice of God; and in this faith they started out; what evidence is there that their faith was true, and that such faith is always dependable?
Verses 13-16.—Why is it that all nations and peoples, in all time, so far as we have any record, believe in, and "desire a better country, that is an heavenly"?
Verses 17-19.—Give from memory the account of Abraham offering up his son Isaac.
What is the particular virtue, in Abraham obeying God in the matter of offering up Isaac?
Would it be a virtue or a vice in these days, if any man should do the same thing as Abraham did?
Verses 20-23.—Suppose the persons
mentioned in these wonderful verses, Isaac, Jacob, Joseph, Moses and Ra-hah, had been lacking faith in God, in those critical moments of their lives, what would have been the difference in the results?
Does faith in God always make the present happy, and picture in glowing colors the future?
Verses 24-26.—Have men distinguished for their faith always been noted for their goodness?
This is a thrilling account of the exploits of the men of faith; give me an account of the achievements of men noted for their lack of faith.

stripes. The message was conveyed to Robert Hoyer, assistant to President Chibberg of the exposition, and immediately a great discussion arose.
For the time being the request was complied with and the Japanese flag taken down from the building.
It is thought that the trouble, which
for a while threatened to be of later national moment has been smoothed
over and that the Japanese and American flags will be displayed side by side instead of one over the other as on all other buildings. This precedent was established by the Japanese themselves in the Japanese building, where the stars and stripes and the flag of Japan fly to the winds side by side over the entrance.

DELIVERIES ANYWHERE.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, June 11, 1869.—Burglary.—The residence of Mr. Hecokiah Smith, in the Third Ward, was entered by a back door last night by some person on burglarious purpose. The intruder was first discovered by Mrs. Smith in her sleeping-room. She gave the alarm and the rascal fled before he succeeded in getting any booty. If this sort of raiding is about to commence again, it is high time that our citizens furnished up their firearms and get them ready for use.

A Magnificent Flower.—Mr. Roberts the florist, has had on exhibition in his store and will exhibit at the rink this evening, one of the most magnificent flowers we have ever seen. It is called the Hymen auratum or gold band lily. The blossoms, of which there are two, each measure eleven inches across the top. The plant is of Japanese origin and is as fragrant as it is beautiful to look at.

Good Music.—At the festival at the rink this evening our citizens will have an opportunity of hearing the band from the Blind Institution. Prof. Hachoff, the leader, is an accomplished musician, and in addition to his participation with the others, will give some exhibitions of his skill on the piano.

Decorations, Music, Jacob's Well, etc.—Busy hands are making the rink decidedly attractive for the festival this evening. Green boughs, flowers and charms will lend the influence of their magic to enliven the occasion. And then Robel will draw with "The old oaken bucket." The iron-bound bucket, a delicious beverage made of water and lemon and sugar—without so much as a slice in it—from Jacob's well. A general invitation is extended to all to be present and to partake of all the luxuries.

Disagreed.—The jury in the case of William Mitchell, indicted for assault with intent to kill, failed to agree.

Work of Head and Hand.—The head and the hand constitute the winning forces in life. Man comes to his kingdom through the instrumentality of their combination.

Original Meaning of "Supper."

To "sup," or take "supper," is now to eat the last meal of the day; but the original meaning of the term was to drink, a meaning still retained by the closely allied word "sip." From the same root we get the words "sop" and "soup."

Hartzell Piano

MANUFACTURED BY THE BENNETT PIANO CO.

A little lower in price than the Bennett Piano but a beautiful well toned quality. The Hartzell Piano is a not a middle quality piano, it is a High Grade instrument suitable for any home and is guaranteed to give entire satisfaction. An examination of these beautiful pianos at my residence will convince you that I have done a finer line and my prices are lower than any other dealer in Rock or Watworth Counties.

Easy Money.

A high-flyer around town makes his money too easily for his own good. His rich wife gave him $50,000 when she married him and raised it to $300,000 to divorce him. Now he doesn't have to work or marry any more—New York Press.

Mystified Mabel. Mother (at lunch)—"Yes, darling, these little sardines are sometimes eaten by the larger fish." Mabel (aged five)—"But, mamma, how do they get the cans open?"—Exchange.

Argumentative.

"Dar is two kinds of argumentative," said Uncle Eben; "dem in which you is tryin' to enlighten somebody, an' dem in which you is tryin' to fool somebody."
